Lexington Conservation Stewards

Caring for our public land.

The Lexington Conservation Stewards is a group of volunteers who work closely with the Conservation Division to care for the town's 1,300 acres of conservation land. Through efforts such as building bridges and trails, controlling invasive species, cleaning up streams, and hosting events, the Stewards continually improve the quality of Lexington's conservation land. A smaller group, the Steward Directors, meets monthly to coordinate stewardship activities. New members are welcome at any time.

Joining the Stewards is easy. Simply fill out this form and mail it back to the Conservation Division at the address below, scan and e-mail the form, or simply e-mail the information on this form (e-mail address below). You'll receive our newsletter, notices of stewardship workdays, and an invitation to our meetings and special events.

I'm interested in volunteering in the following ways:

☐ Lead property steward (monitor and clean up trails, communicate issues to Town staff, help coordinate volunteer projects)

☐ Steward director (work with Town staff to plan and implement stewardship projects)

☐ Participate in volunteer work days

☐ Lead nature/education walks

☐ I am not interested in volunteering actively, but would like to join the Stewards mailing list
